The Morning Mayor Show KMPH 840 AM Daily at 10 It works if you e-mail to your list December 18, 2007 The Sabatino Report Today on the Morning Mayor Show you can hear a presentation by Donna Worley to the Rialto City Council while her address was in Burbank and her residence is in Patterson. Political consultants believe in false advertising and avoiding issues. Let's talk this morning. Modesto Bee considers political intrigue in Patterson is not related to Gerry Kamilos Crows Landing project. The story about paid political activist and Gerry Kamilos supporter Donna Worley is something the Bee does not want you to know about. Recent Patterson resident Donna Worley has proposed two initiatives in Patterson and political consultant Mike Lynch from the Great Valley Center is grateful for her support. The first initiative proposes term limits for the Patterson City Council. They apparently need to be replaced because they have had the audacity to oppose the developers and Gerry Kamilos. Maybe a few of them could be charged with a felony? Just make up a charge, even a threat of such action might work. The second initiative proposed by Worley would limit the number of new housing permits in Patterson to 200. This provides cover for Worley. It gives her the appearance of limiting growth. The Kamilos developers and investors are not interested in building in the City of Patterson. They want to cover the County with homes.
